Negotiations Behind Closed Doors

Information on the requests from Placentia city employees for an increase in their salaries and benefits, will be withheld from the taxpayers until all the negotiatons are completed, it was indicated here this week.

Negotiations will be conducted completely behind closed doors, without public input, except for city council member participation, it was reported.

"That is the common practice," Lee Sale, the city's Director of Personnel explained.

Requests from all organizations negotiating (there are three reported), will not be known unless the employee groups decide to make the information public, it was intimated. This apparently will be done by at least one group, the major negotiator, the Orange County Employees Association, only if an impasse is reached.

Whose responsibility it might be to inform the public of what is transpiring, if that obligation exists, also appeared to be somewhat in doubt this week. John O'Malley, administrator of the city Orange County contracts division of OCEA and chief negotiator for city employees affiliated with OCEA, said he thought that was the "city administration's responsibility."

"They are the ones who are responsible to the taxpayers," O'Malley reasoned. "Not us." He said that he considered the negotiations between the two groups like those in the private sector between employees and management. By management, he said, he meant the city administrator and his staff.

"The taxpayers are like the stockholders in the company," O'Malley explained. "We are opposed to negotiating in a gold fish bowl. It's detrimental to a settlement."

He said, however, that if the talks reached an impasse "then we would go to the public."

This was the case, it was recalled, when the public was informed of lack of progress on Placentia Library District employee negotiations a year ago. Library employees are represented by the same county organization, OCEA.

Personnel director, Sale, said this week that the city has no intentions of releasing either the requests already made by employee groups or the offers city staff, after executive sessions with city council members, will make in return.

"It's just customary to do it the other way," Sale explained. "We wouldn't reveal their position and we don't reveal ours until we have come to an agreement. Then the information will be provided to the public. That's just the way it's done."

Involved before negotiations are started, is $2,512,122 that it now costs Placentia citizens for salaries and benefits for approximately 130 to 135 employees. That figure is almost 40 per cent of the complete city budget, staff reports.

Sale said that city council members are in on the negotiations from the beginning but do not actually take part at the bargaining table. He confirmed that people negotiating on both sides are on the public payroll, receiving their livelihood from taxpayers. The exception would be paid negotiators representing employees only.

Mayor George De Jesus queried on the lack on balance on the two sides, said that it raised an interesting point. "It has always been done this way and I had not given the matter any particular thought."

De Jesus said that this procedure is similar to private enterprise where everyone is on the company's payroll.

It is still supposed, he indicated, that although the negotiators for the company are on company payroll, still they would do a creditable job in upholding the company's interest.

Sale indicated that he believed involving the public would prolong the negotiations "and we would

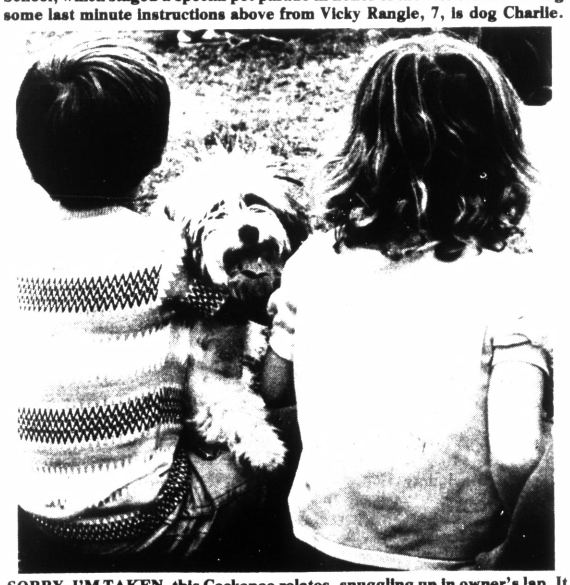
SERVING THE COMMUNITY FOR MORE THAN 60 YEARS

Volume 66—Number 1 Placentia, California— Wednesday, July 28, 1976 10¢ Per Copy

Those Dog Days —

VERY IMPORTANT PETS don't always get to attend school with their young owners, but last week was an exception at Ruby Drive Elementary School, which staged a special pet parade in honor of the visitors. Receiving some last minute instructions above from Vicky Rangle, 7, is dog Charlie.



SORRY, I'M TAKEN, this Cockapoo relates, snuggling up in owner's lap. It was an unusual opportunity for all four-legged and other animal friends to see the strange world that their young owners disappear into every day.

Location For Clinic Expected Next Month

Decision on where to locate a new Community Medical Clinic in the north Orange County area, is expected to be made within the next month, officials indicated this week.

Sites under consideration include Fullerton, Anaheim and Placentia, Dane Hoiberg, staff officer to the dean of medicine at the University of California at Irvine confirmed.

The clinic, one of two to serve as outpatient facilities, would be a satellite to the recently acquired UC Irvine Medical Center in Orange, previously the Orange County Hospital. The second clinic is already functioning in Santa Ana.

Hoiberg said that many factors are being scrutinized in the decision on the location, which would bring medical services to disadvantaged areas, such as land availability and accessibility. The proposed clinic last week received notice of a $250,000 budget allocation for equipment for its use from the California state budget.

Placentia's Social Services Department said there has been no new communications on the possibility of the clinic locating here since dean of the UCI medical school, Dr. Stanley van den Nort addressed the city

One More Link In Placentia's Cross-World Chain

An international exchange, perhaps unique in the world, was still gaining momentum this week, involving the city of Placentia.

The goodwill effort, spanning international borders, may result in some type of formal recognition from both California and the United States governments.

The matter involves the efforts between groups of citizens of both Piacenza, Italy and Placentia, California, USA, and was predicated at the outset solely on the similarity of names.

But the results have become far more reaching.

Just returned from a month on the European continent, city treasurer Robert Lyons, his wife Jo and their four children, and traveling companion Eileen Callahan (daughter of former Mayor Pro Tem Michael and Mrs. Callahan), have already queried Piacenza, Italy officials on becoming a sister city to Placentia, USA. The response was favorable.

Action is now needed by the Placentia City Council to make the

Bradford House Gets Further Look

A broad, frontal attack against the problems besetting the vintage Bradford House was launched with diversity last week, as the special Blue Ribbon committee of professional people took up the crusade.

The committee, appointed by city council, has set a target date of September 21, to find solutions for the circumstances of the 1904 house, built by the founder of the city of Placentia Albert S. Bradford.

Elected chairman of the committee was Claris Jones, a Fullerton resident who lives in the Placentia Unified School District. Mrs. Jones and her husband, Dr. C. Eugene Jones were among the leaders in establishing the recently opened Heritage House in the Arboretum at California State University, Fullerton, where Dr. Jones is the director.

Among delegates meeting last week were two members of the city

Police Officer Dismissed; Later Charged

Former Placentia Police Officer John Diamond, who was dismissed from his job last week, has been charged with two felony complaints of preparing false evidence.

Arraignment date was set for Tuesday in the North Orange County Municipal Court in Fullerton.

Lt. Jim Robertson, detective commander of the Placentia police said he has filed investigative reports with the District Attorney's office in Santa Ana regarding the charges.

A felony warrant on the false evidence charges was issued for Diamond's arrest by Judge Logan Moore of the North Orange County Municipal Court. Lt. Robertson said he has been in contact with Diamond's attorney, Allan Streller and advised him to surrender his client for arrest.

Diamond, who had worked for Placentia for seven months, and is

Beer-Wine Permit Denied

The third time was not a charm for the El Farolito Restaurant at the corner of Bradford Avenue and Center Street, Placentia, which has been seeking permission to sell wine and beer with its Mexican food.

The request brought before city council had been continued twice in the past as council members found themselves in exact disagreement. The tie-breaking vote of Jack Gomez was absent at both of the previous meetings.

Councilman Gomez's vote was not needed, however, as Councilwoman Virginia Farmer, at the beginning of the discussion Tuesday night, said that she had reviewed the use permit in depth and that she wished to change her opinion. She had previously voted in favor of the permit.

Mrs. Farmer based her decision, she said, on complaints of senior citizens whose clubhouse is directly across the street and "surrounding businesses and people in the neighborhood feel that it will be detrimental."

Gomez also voted against the action stating: "I feel that a use

School Lunch Will Cost 5 Cents More

School lunches will cost more in September...five cents more.

The Placentia Unified School District Board of Trustees Monday night unanimously approved the hike in lunch prices in an attempt to meet rising costs involved in salaries and foods and supplies.

A type A lunch, grades 1 through 6 will be 50 cents; grades 7 through 12, 55 cents and adults 85 cents.

The lunches appear to be a bargain, however as information provided to trustees showed the operation to be on a deficit basis with a ten cent increase actually indicated to cover expense. That much of an increase was not recommended, however.

Agreements for milk deliveries also were confirmed with Adohr dairies to serve Brookhaven, Ruby Drive, Sierra Vista, Topaz and Tuffree; Cal-Va dairies, Golden, McFadden, Morse, Rio Vista and Wagner; Excelsior dairies, Fairmont, Glenknoll, Glenview, Orchard and Yorba and Foremost dairies, El Dorado, Kraemer, Valencia, Van Buren and Esperanza.

Drum-Bugle Corps Show Friday Night

An international Drum and Bugle Corps Show, a part of Placentia's Bicentennial-50th Birthday celebration this year, will be presented at Bradford Stadium at 7 p.m., Friday night, July 30.

Drum and Bugle Corps will be participating from as far away as the Sarries from British Columbia, Canada the highly rated Blue Devil B Corps from Concord, representing the north California area and the Sky Liners from Montana.

Altogether seven corps will present their unique and competitive routines which involves marching, music, flag twirling and unusual presentations, the sponsoring Placentia Bicentennial committee reports.

Among the local area groups participating will be the Velvet Knights, the Squires, the Monterey Park Girls Corps and the Los

Tax Relief Too Small A Figure

A statement in a story in last week's Placentia Courier on the Placentia Library trustees decision to drop their tax rate 1 1/3 cents per $100 assessed valuation, said that "the total amount involved between the two tax rates (maximum and reduced) is in the neighborhood of $2,000."

"The figure would be closer to $16,000," David Snow, director of the Placentia Library District said this week, indicating that much of a reduction from the total legal amount taxpayers could be asked to pay.

"The $2,000 figure was just a general amount that we might have been off in our calculations," Snow explained, "since we were making the estimates without benefit of having the actual figures."

The Courier regrets the misinformation in the story.

Placentia Night With The Angels

City council members and Deanna Musgrove, Miss Placentia, will be participating in ceremonies at the Angel Stadium Saturday night, July 31, for Placentia Community Night.

The third such annual Placentia event is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. It also will be jacket night at the Anaheim Stadium with each child 14 years of age and under receiving a free jacket in a carrying case. The jackets are white vinyl with red and blue lettering.

The city has reserved 260 seats on the terrace level at $3.50 each. Organizations such as Little League, Bob-Etts, Scouts, civic organizations and neighborhood groups, who would like to attend together, are welcome to join in the festivities, Dick Samp, the city's director of Recreation and Maintenance Services encouraged.

A Placentia Little League team will be participating in the pregame warmup and throwing out the first ball ceremonies will involve city council members and Miss Placentia. The game is with the Chicago White Sox.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce, 127 South Bradford, the Recreation Department office, 117 North Main and the City Hall, 401 East Chapman Avenue.

For further information, call the Recreation Department at 993-8184.

Local Diver Competes

Billy Day, 16, Placentia, will compete in the 1976 National Age-Group Diving Championships in Cupertino, California, July 31 through August 3.

Day has been diving since he was nine years old. Some of his diving accomplishments are: 1971 and 1974, National Junior Olympics, first place in three meter event; 1974 Southern Pacific Association Diver of the Year; 1974 California State Age-Group Champion; 1975 Far Western Age-Group champion in one and three meter events.

He dives unattached but is coached by Sammy Lee and Glenn McCormick.

PUSD Budget On Page 15

The Placentia Unified School District each year issues a Publication Budget for the information of the public.

The 1976-77 $26 million budget appears on Page 15 of the Placentia Courier in this issue.

A special public hearing on the budget will be held Monday night, August 2 at 7:45 p.m. in the PUSD Administration Building, 1301 East Orangethorpe Avenue, Placentia. The public is invited to attend and participate.

This legal budget and other legal advertisements carried in The Placentia Courier are available to the public at the Placentia Library both in back issues and on microfilm. Couriers since 1925 also are available on microfilm at the Library at California State University at Fullerton.

Carnival, Parade Plans Underway

The Placentia Heritage Festival Days Board of Directors indicated Thursday night that they will seek permission from the Placentia City Council to hold a Heritage Carnival with rides and food and game booths during this year's celebration.

Location desired for the carnival will be the southeast corner of Kraemer and Yorba Linda Boulevards.

Planning for this year's extravaganza, which is in commemoration of the Bicentennial Year is also expected to see a reversal of the parade route, with the staging area possibly beginning in the Chapman Avenue from Kraemer Boulevard to Alta Street section. The parade would then advance from Chapman Avenue, north on Bradford Avenue, east on Madison Avenue, north on Kraemer Boulevard, east on Yorba Linda Boulevard to the Palm Drive intersection and on to the dispersal point at Michael's Market, Palm Drive and Valencia Avenue.

Other plans for the big 200-year celebration include a number of novelty and athletic events and programs of major importance. These are still in the planning stages.

Another first being contemplated is a possible tour of the city's two operating packing houses. All plans, Dick Samp, president of the Heritage Board pointed out, are contingent on permission from the city council and various property owners involved and no plans can be firmly made unless permission is received.

The carnival will have at least two spectacular rides and others to appeal to a variety of ages. Local groups are welcome now to put in requests for the game and food booths, Samp reported.

Entries for the big parade are also being invited, Ed Houston, representing the Jaycees who will again this year be in charge of the parade outlined. Also, for the first time this year, cash prizes will be given for local floats, a $50, $25, and $10 award. Anyone wishing to enter the parade may contact Houston at 524-1788.

Parade day for the 12th annual Heritage Festival Days will be October 9, with the Festival opening on October 2 and running through the following Sunday. The carnival is anticipated to run Thursday through Sunday.

Organizations and groups wishing to sign up for game and food booths can contact the city's recreation department at 993-8184.

The heritage board's next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, August 5 at the recreation building at Koch Park. The public is invited to attend.

TREASURED MEMORIES of a special month's visit to countries of Europe and especially to Placenza, Italy are displayed here by City Treasurer Robert Lyons and Mrs. Jo Lyons. The couple with their four children and a companion were special guests at a variety of events on the continent. The unique plate is a gift from the family whose son visited in the Lyons home last year with the delegation of Placenza students to Placentia, USA and the watercolor from artist Wilma Solenghi, who accompanied that group and served as an interpreter.

permit has a harder time qualifying than a regular allowable use. They really have to convince me that it is needed and wanted."

Gomez said he had been contacted by members of the senior citizens in protest and "I am quite concerned about the church being that close. I can't go along with it."

Councilman Donald Holt spoke out again against the use and said that he had recently seen an automobile in the restaurant's parking lot, up on a hydraulic jack, being repaired. "I'm not in favor of it," be declared.

"For reasons I have stated in the past, it is too close to the church and too close to the senior citizens. I am opposed." Mayor Pro Tem William Rashford, stayed with his vote, indicating approval for a six months trial.

It was the third series of hearings on securing a wine-beer permit for the premises with the first hearing requested three years ago. Of five planning commission-city council votes, only one has approved the use and the other four have denied it.

The applicant owner of the restaurant, Gerion Sandoval was represented by attorney Fredrick Aguirre.

Police Officer

32 years of age, was booked at the Placentia city jail and released on his own recognizance.

Robertson said that the charges stemmed from two incidents involving the alleged issuance of a traffic citation which the officer had not witnessed and the filing of an arrest report containing false statements in another police action.

According to Robertson the case is still under investigation and no further details will be released pending the outcome.

Tickets for the presentation are $2 for adults and $1 for students and children and are now on sale at City Hall.

The Knights and Squires recently completed a presentation in Garden Grove attended by over 3,000 people, the committee states. The Squires, who will be the host corps for the event, were B division champions at a recent Orange show, won the sweepstakes award in the Ojai parade along with several others this year, and participated in the Fourth of July extravaganza at Anaheim Stadium, according to statements by the committee.

Employee Negotiations

never get through."

The personnel director said that if the public is dissatisfied with the results of the negotiations "they can complain anytime." However, it would be too late for that year's negotiations, Sale agreed.

The public is scheduled to receive its information at an open meeting at the completion of an agreement along with the history of what has transpired. Until that time information is expected to be withheld from the public and the press.

In the case of a three year contract, which has just been completed by city employees represented by OCEA, it would then be a three year period before any public dissatisfaction might become pertinent.

Sale said that it was unlikely that there will be any more three year agreements, but more probably contracts for a year at a time.

Most of the city's employees, excluding the police and midmanagement, who have their own negotiating organizations, are represented by OCEA. The Placentia Fire Department, when the city had one, was represented by a fireman's union, an affiliate of AFL-CIO. The city's fire service, long in dissension, is now with the county.

Since Placentia employees have been affiliated with OCEA, they have had a two year contract with the city and one for three years, Sale reported. Information was not available on the two year contract, but over the past three years, in one negotiation, city employee raises were agreed to in the amounts of 6.3 per cent, 8.1 per cent and 9 per cent or a total in the three years of 23.4 per cent, almost a quarter paychecks increase.

In addition, the cost of employees benefits, excluding vacations and sick leave, have risen roughly to $280,000, covering such areas as insurance, health insurance, education benefits and other negotiated items.

This year's negotiations are expected to be complete by October 1, the final date of the current contracts. One of the three negotiators for the city side, Jack Slota, already has received a promotion and a raise at the last session of the city council Tuesday night.

Slota was promoted from "administrative assistant" to "assistant to the city administrator", a change in wording and job classification including a raise of $45 a month. His new position places him in the center of a salary range from $1,383.43 a month to $1,707.33.

Recommendation for the advance was made by personnel director Sale, the chief negotiator for the city side of the bargaining table and was recommended by Edwin Powell, Placentia City Administrator, whose annual salary at $37,404 makes him one of the highest paid Orange County administrators in a city the size of Placentia.

Sale said that he believes that comparisons between salaries here and those in other cities in Orange County no matter what the size, are valid because "being a policeman is the same everywhere...or a secretary."

Legal opinion Sale stated, is that information during the process of negotiations can be shared with the public or withheld. "The best advice we have," he said, "is that the process should remain confidential."

Medical Clinic

council about a year ago, explaining the search for a suitable clinic site.

At that time it was conjectured that free land might be sought from a city in exchange for the clinic being located within its borders. An area mentioned in Placentia was the maintenance yard next to the Chester Whitten Center in the La Jolla area, which will be vacated when a new maintenance yard is constructed on the extension of Chapman Avenue east of City Hall.

Hoiberg said this week that plans are to erect a prefabricated type building for the clinic once the decision is made as to its location. Medical services would be provided on the premises to the extent that is feasible with more complex areas of treatment handled at the big hospital in Orange.

Placentia currently has a free medical clinic, conducted on Tuesday nights at the Chester Whitten Community Center by local doctors who volunteer their services.

Dennis Kaufman, executive director of the clinic said this week that the services are badly in need of expansion and efforts are being made to secure enough doctors to advance the clinic to two nights a week. Kaufman, who is bilingual in Spanish, said that many of the patients suffer from a language barrier in seeking medical aid.

A recent effort to use a city-owned trailer to expand facilities for the local Tuesday night clinic, did not prove successful because of difficulty in locating the trailer close enough to the Whitten Center so that both facilities could be used, Kaufman stated. The clinic must use kitchen facilities at the Center.

Hoisberg reported that the new clinic planned by UCI is expected to open sometime in 1977.

School Lunches

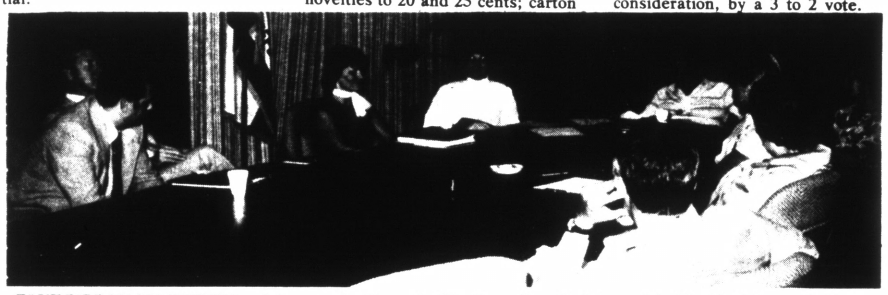
Trustees, however balked at an increase in price in some vending machine snack items, sought by contractor R.J. Bradberry. The vendor wishes to increase the price of cup drinks to 20 cents; ice cream novelties to 20 and 25 cents; carton juice to 20 cents and packaged pastry to 35 cents.

The board objected to the price raise being sought after the contract had been signed and deferred the matter to their next meeting for consideration, by a 3 to 2 vote.



BLUE RIBBON COMMITTEE, advisory to the Placentia City Council on the future of the Bradford House, holds its first conference. Seated clockwise are Charles Barranco, manager of the Placentia Bank of America; Leonard Rodgers, vice president and manager of Century Federal Savings and Loan Association; Mrs. Sylvia Hoskins, president of the Placentia Founders Society; Councilwoman Virginia Farmer; Councilman Donald Holt; Sue Fenwick, Associated Students president at Fullerton College, who was elected secretary of the committee; Mrs. Claris Jones, elected committee chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, former school principal and author and Monty Holst, insurance agent. Not in the picture, Jack Faley, chosen as spokesman to the council; Mary Bette, manager of Fullerton Savings and Loan Association and Mrs. Marty Press, whose husband is president of the Placentia Unified School District board of trustees. Other committee members not in attendance, Mrs. Georgetta Price and Mrs. Clairee Tynes.

council, three managers of local banks, wife of a bank executive, an author, insurance agent, a college student and other civic leaders.

Instructions from Councilman Donald Holt at the opening of the session suggested that the group should find a use for the house with public funding; an historical use for the house with county, state or federal funding; possibility of selling the house and those who might be interested in buying it and the possibility of demolishing the house.

The committee outlined procedures which include:

Possibility of using one room near the entrance of the home as the Placentia Chamber of Commerce office, thereby putting someone on the premises five days a week during business hours. The house has been a recent victim of vandals.

Looking into the possibility of use of other rooms as youth-oriented office space, such as accommodations for Boy Scouts and YMCA. Professional business offices as a use in the home did not seem to receive acceptance.

Parking facilities may have great influence on uses for the house. Mrs. Sylvia Hoskins, president of the Placentia Founders Society reported that the immediate neighbors to the heritage home do not want a parking lot for the park nor large numbers of people using the home.

Councilwoman Virginia Farmer replied: "If the neighborhood doesn't want a parking lot there, then they don't want the house there." Other members spoke of parking as mandatory.

Two bankers, Charles Barranco, manager of the Placentia Bank of America and Mary Bette, manager of Fullerton Savings and Loan Association stressed that concrete facts are needed.

"Any study has to have some kind of cost analysis," Mrs. Bette pointed out, "as to the amount of money put in and the number of people it serves and the cost for serving those people. If it is going to person to person, I don't think you can validly use tax money for it and tax money has to somehow be found for maintenance."

Leonard Rodgers, vice president of Century Federal Savings and Loan added: "I'm looking far beyond the inconvenience that may be caused to a group of people or the dollars and cents. I'm looking at generations, three, four or five generations from now. We've got to save something. Why didn't they tear down Mt. Vernon? It's an old house!

"I think we're talking about one of the greatest intangibles there is, that we have so few old relics left in this nation of ours. I think we are a nation of people who destroy some of the most magnificent things we have."

Figures were not available to the committee as to the cost of bringing the heritage home up to code. Estimates were $40,000 to $72,000 to $107,000 range.

Barranco: "If the cheapest we can get away with is $50,000, oh, boy, we've got a problem to begin with."

Rodgers: "Another thing we're overlooking is not just bringing the property up to staus quo, but the maintenance."

Rodgers continued: "This is Placentia's contribution to the Bicentennial of the United States of America. One hundred or 200 years from now, people will ask what did the citizens of Placentia contribute? The citizens of Placentia got together and decided to preserve what is available," he suggested.

Another decision made by the committee will involve a search into possible grants for which the house might be eligible. Also mentioned was the current cost of insurance on the house with committee member Monty Holst quoting a figure of $900 a year (present policy is $3,000 annually) for fire insurance only.

Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, former school principal in the Placentia Unified School District and children's author, asked for a list of all cultural, social and recreational activities conducted by the city of Placentia, their cost and the numbers of people involved in each.

"What we are proposing is just a piece of the whole big problem," Mrs. Freeman pointed out, "and we need to see what the whole big program looks like."

The next meeting of the group will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, August 12 in the Conference Room at City Hall.

Asked to join the committee will be Ranney Draper, president of Diversified Shopping Centers, Inc., Newport Beach, and Wayne Bolger, a candidate for city council in the last elction and former city commissions member.

Trip To Piacenza

State and federal officials may become involved and will be encouraged to acknowledge the recent efforts of Piacenza citizens in their elaborate entertainment of American youngsters, who lately visited the Italian shores under supervision of Mrs. Curtis (Eva) Carter. Mrs. Carter's bilingual talents early placed her in the center of the international cultural exchange.

The efforts of the two groups of citizens is next expected to be aimed at a visit of Italian adults to Placentia, California in the summer of 1977.

Taking note from Rome of all that is going on is Pope Paul VI who recently lauded the goodwill efforts in his talk in five languages at a Papal audience at which the Placentia and Piacenza youngsters and chaperones were conspicuously placed in the front row.

"I was impressed that he (Pope Paul) singled out Placentia, "Lyons, who was mayor of the city of Placentia when the Piacenza students visited here, recalls. He told all 10,000 people in that auditorium, Lyons remembers, that "you people are putting into practice what world leaders are only talking about. It was very impressive."

Lyons feels that was the highlight of the Lyons family journey, which ultimately put 2,500 European miles on a leased Peugeot station wagon. But if that was the most exhilarating memory, the saddest, undoubtedly was extending farewells to the Piacenza citizens who first initiated a trip of their youngsters to this country and then refused to give up on a return visit, until the Americans said yes.

"I wanted to come back home, but it was all I could do to keep from crying," Lyons recalls the farewell party in Piacenza recently, "because I really hated to leave."

Such royal treatment, however, was not unique in the Lyons travels where no unpleasant incidents marred a month's sojourn in European countries.

The original intent of the European trip was to enable Lyons, at the invitation of the United States Air Force, to deliver a paper on cadmium-telluride crystals, involving his work at Aeronutronics-Ford, Newport Beach.

That information was delivered at a symposium of 200 Ph Ds from around the world, including some from Iron Curtain countries. The sessions were held at Strasbourg, France, an international city of canals on the French-German border.

Lyons' information, which included redesigning of the electronic package for the crystals from a large cumbersome unit into a tiny parcel, prompted invitations for him to appear in Sweden, Germany, France and Jerusalem. One scientist, traveling the 6,000 miles from Sacramento, to obtain the information for use in the U.S. space program, discovered it had been available at Newport Beach all along.

Mrs. Lyons carefully kept diary of the family's (Brian, Terri, Kevin and Michael) daily European adventures includes:

Landing at the London Airport after 23 hours of sleepless traveling. Then on to Paris.

First French lunch was hot dogs, pizza and a banana split, served with cognac and brandy.

Family, used to California, was not overly impressed with French or Italian Riviera. Smooth rocks rather than sand on the beaches. Enjoyed the wonders of Monaco.

Found Italy engaging and beautiful. The leaning tower of Pisa with 294 steps that go round and round makes a dizzy climb. As the family scrambled into the bell tower at high noon, all the bells of Pisa began ringing. Very loudly.

Jo Lyons: "Europe was so clean. No beer cans or paper blown up against fences. No litter or garish billboards."

When in Rome...drive carefully. Bob Lyons: "Not all roads lead to Rome, most of them bypass it!"

Traffic in Rome: people drive down dividers, run red lights, run over pedestrians, who do not have the right-of-way and honk at everything including pretty girls. Jo Lyons: "You take your life in your hands to cross the street. If it's illegal to park on the street, you park on the sidewalk. We did."

There are no service stations. Bob Lyons: "If you're lost, you stop at an intersection, roll your window down and yell out where you want to go. The people in the next car will yell directions."

Jo Lyons: "You can't hear conversations on Roman streets because of the noise of the traffic. No mufflers and a lot of pollution." Bob Lyons: "All the air in Europe smells like truck exhaust even at night."

The Lyons visited prominent and out-of-way places to view famous art. A church "that looked like a store" contained not only Michelangelo's famous statue of Moses but chains used in the crucifixion of St. Peter.

At the Vatican: Jo Lyons: "Michelangelo's statue, La Pieta, is now behind bullet proof glass. It is a different kind of marble. It looks almost like there is life in it. It is glowing and soft and doesn't look like marble."

In Florence, Italy, people drive sensibly and all buildings are required to have red tiled roofs.

In Strasbourg, France, it costs 66 cents a load to wash at the Laundromat and 66 cents a load to dry. The machines were Speed Queens.

Coca Colas in Europe cost anywhere from 50 cents a glass to $1.60 and no ice. Water is not a widely-used commodity. Bob Lyons: "We had to sneak water."

The Lyons celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary on June 28, at a truck stop in Strasbourg, France with grilled steaks and French fries. (Family expenses of their trip were paid by Mrs. Lyons' parents as an anniversary present).

Fourth of July was celebrated in Paris with Michael Callahans and daughter Carol Ann. The group of ten Americans discovered a McDonald's in the heart of Paris. Jo Lyons: "It tasted just the same. Just like home."

The Lyons ferried to England where they continued their sightseeing. Bob Lyons would like to return to Windsor Castle, and Strasbourg and see Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

And, most especially, Piacenza, Italy.

THE LATEST STYLE, at least in Sierra Vista Elementary School second grade, was recently leg painting. It's done with extreme care, and the fancier the better, as the three very artistic young ladies, Jill Cone, Laura Waterworth and Amy Adams demonstrate above. Winners of the contest, shown below are Shannon Wimmerstedt, Matthew Boles, Randy Sexton, Sandy Darnbrough, Sherrie Graham and Larry Duke. Each winner was awarded with a certificate and a free hamburger and coke at Carls, Jr.

Residences In Violation

Records reports on corrections, additions and inspections required in Placentia residences to bring them up to code, are now numbering around 60 a month, Victor Newton, chief building official of the city reports.

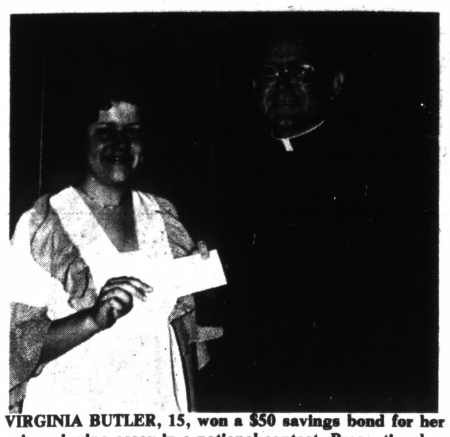
Building inspectors, Newton states, find that there are several items appearing continually on the corrections lists. Some are inadequate or improper connections of a ledger board to the house wall for patio covers; garage door openers with open wiring and water heaters.

Water heaters, if relocated, must comply with the plumbing code requirement, Newton says, that they be 18 inches from the floor to the point of ignition. This is to prevent explosive vapors or fumes which are heavier than air from coming into contact with the pilot light of the heater.

All water heaters, Newton continued, whether replacements or new installations, since January, 1972, require a pressure and temperature relief valve installation.

Plumbing code requires that it be located at the top of the heater on the hot water piping system but it may be at any suitable location as long as no valve or shut off device of any nature is installed between the water heater and the PTR valve.

Information on such problems is obtainable from the city's building department.



VIRGINIA BUTLER, 15, won a $50 savings bond for her prize winning essay in a national contest. Presenting her with the award is Rev. Daniel Johnson, pastor of St. Martin's Church, Yorba Linda.

Prize Essay

Congratulations are extended to Virginia Butler of St. Martin de Porres parish. She won the prize for 15 year olds on the composition entitled: "What the United States Means to Me".

The contest was sponsored by Catholic Golden Age of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Her very fine composition is printed below.

"What the United States Means to Me"
By Virginia Butler

United States, The.--a republic of fifty states and the District of Columbia.

The United States is more to me than a history definition of a geographical location. It is like an abstract noun; something you can feel but not touch.

The words "The United States" bring many things to mind. The colors in our proud flag, for example. Red for courage, white for hope and blue for loyalty. Americans have always been famous for their optimism.

We have always fought for equal political and social rights for everyone. Freedom to do your own thing is emphasized also. And of course we shouldn't neglect baseball, hotdogs, apple pie and Chevrolet!

Seriously, The United States of America is a perfect example of how people can get along together. When in 1776 we revolted from Europe's dominance and formed our own democracy, they said it wouldn't last. But it did and so did we.

We're like an enormous family that, along with its difficulties, has something valuable. Love. And love is the greatest attribute of all. The Bicentennial celebration is the perfect example of this. It is like a huge birthday party with everyone gathering together in friendship to celebrate their love for their country.

So, I think that to me, The United States means love. Love for ourselves, for each other and for our country. And in this love we are "one nation under God".

Senior Citizens

By Muriel Sutton

Another delicious lunch was enjoyed at the Esperanza Hospital by our Seniors and also dinner at Placentia-Linda Hospital. All on the one day. We were certainly well fed that day, and we do appreciate it.

The next Esperanza luncheon is August 25 at 12 noon. The Placentia-Linda dinners are the first and third Wednesday of each month.

Many of our Seniors enjoyed a most delightful meeting at the lovely home of June and Bill Duncan recently. This was a get-together of Thirty-Niners, a group springing from the United Methodist Church here in Yorba Linda.

These are wonderful people and June and Bill's hospitality meant much to some of us. Delicious refreshments were served and everyone had a real good time.

Our Friday Open House is still going strong but we need more of you to participate. We are planning Folk Dancing in the near future so come along and get your forever young bodies going again. Besides, its a little cooler than in some of your hot apartments.

Local Attorney Speaks

Trotter, Jr. of Santa Ana, Wylie Aitken of Placentia, Robert Charbonneau of Newport Beach, William Shernoff of Claremont, Arthur Hews of Santa Ana, and Richard Madory of Santa Ana.

The most recent verdict in a "Bad Faith" case in Orange County Superior Court was in excess of $5,000,000.

Registration is open to all attorneys, law students, legal secretaries and the general public.

Pack 706

Awards were presented to: Ken Forsythe, artist activity badge; Robert Herrell, Wolf award; Jason Hoffman, Bobcat award; Joe Kamenski, artist activity badge and Steven Anderson, naturalist activity badge.

Also in June three Webelos and their fathers attended a Father-Son Campout at Lost Valley Boy Scout Camp. Webelos attending were Michael Leverett, Jeff Ross and David Carruth.

The campout was free to the boys in gratitude for their participation in the pack's Easter Egg candy sales.

STOP SIGNS

Following the recommendation of the Placentia Traffic Safety Committee, the city council has voted approval of stop signs for north-south traffic on Kingston Road at Livingston Avenue.

Movie 'Midway' Has Special Meaning

The movie "Midway", currently showing throughout the Southland, has a special meaning for a Yorba Linda resident.

Charles Beck was the only person Universal Studio, makers of the film, could locate who was a member of the aircraft carrier Hornet's crew who is still in the United States Navy.

Beck and former shipmates were guests of the studio at the recent gala Hollywood premier of the film depicting one of the most crucial naval battles of World War II...the Battle of Midway.

The film opened on the 34th anniversary of that battle which took place on June 2, 3 and 4 in 1942. The combined sea and naval battle, occuring only months after the attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese, was credited with seriously damaging the enemy's air and sea advantage gained by the bombing of the Hawaiian Islands base.

Beck is now the zone supervisor for U.S. Navy Recruiting offices in North Orange County. He has a total of 35 years in the Navy. He holds the rating of Senior Chief Aviation Machinist's Mate.

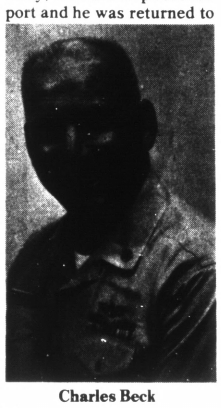
Beck joined the Navy in February of 1941 and trained as an Aviation Machinist Mate. He was assigned to the USS Hornet with Fighter Squadron Eight and went on routine patrol in the Pacific.

The ship escaped the attack on Pearl Harbor and was among the first Navy ships to respond against the Japanese. Beck was aboard on April 18 when General Jimmy Doolittle led the first American attack against the major islands of Japan with the first ever launching of bombers from a carrier.... the deck of the Hornet.

Six months later, on Oct. 27, 1942 the Hornet was hit by two kamikaze airplanes, four large bombs and three torpedos and sank. Beck survived and had shore duty for a year.

In 1943 he shipped out to the Marianas Islands with ground troops. A new carrier arrived in the area and Beck visited the ship, believing it to be "the new Hornet."

It wasn't, but Beck ate with the crew, took a shower and a nap. While napping the ship went to sea. Beck explained his situation to ship officers and stayed aboard, technically a stowaway, until the ship reached port and he was returned to his command.



Charles Beck

He avoided a desertion charge because he had over-extended his pass and served out the war with the ground force unit, taking part in the Tienan Island invasion.

In 1946 Beck was discharged in San Diego but worked as a civilian on Navy aircraft. In 1950 he joined the Naval Reserve and returned to active duty in August of 1972.

T'Masters

Members and wives of the Yorba Linda-Placentia Toastmasters Club #3425 of the Toastmasters International held their annual barbecue meeting at the home of Richard and Margret Wall, Cheyenne Place, Placentia, July the 20th.

Mo Graham was the Table Topics Master. The theme was 'frustration'. The toastmasters and also their ladies were allowed two minutes to air their frustrations. Everybody participated.

After dinner, Jerry Leff talked about his business trip to Moscow, and the architecture of that city. He illustrated his talk with some slides.

Club #3425 meets twice a month. Guests and new members always welcome. For information call 528-7641.

On Honor List

Five students from Placentia and one from Yorba Linda were named to the President's Honor List at Cypress College for the spring semester.

The Placentians were Jeffrey Cyrus Brown, Charles Edward Geeter, Jeannie Victoria Huffman, Bonnie Lynn Larson and Rebecca Lynne Morrow. Carey Nell Higgins was the Yorba Linda student.

Students must earn a grade point average of 3.75, an "A" minus, or above on a class load of 12 or more unites to be eligible for the list.

Kids Enjoy HH Stables

A recent visit of Van Buren School pupils in the summer session to Jerry Kettinger's Hidden Hills Stables in Yorba Linda may just have spawned a new program for children.

Kettinger was pleased to have the children, with Principal Stan Graham, visit and learn about horses and their care.

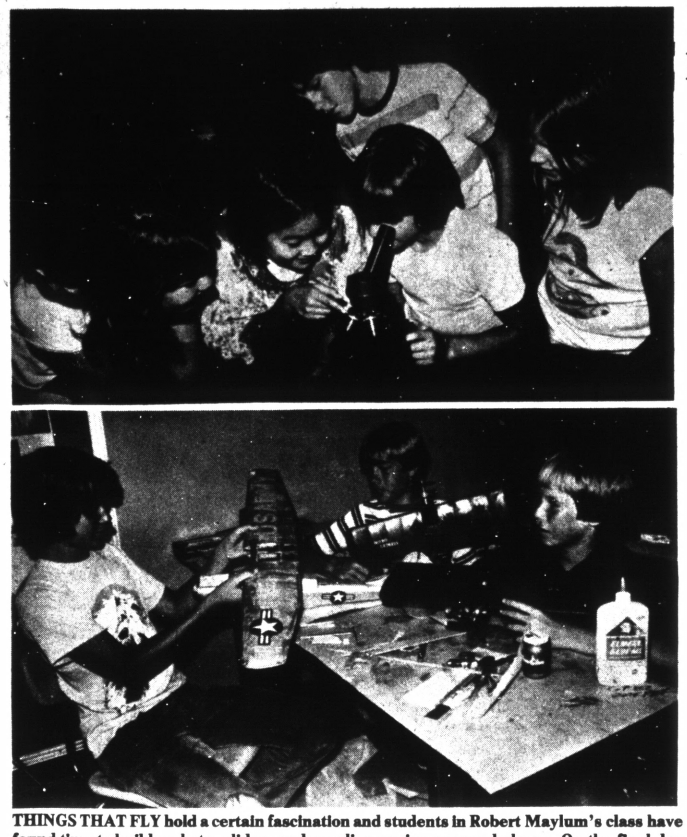
He showed them equipment and explained its use, described the fundamentals of keeping the animals and their quarters clean and even had a "shoer" or blacksmith there to demonstrate the art of making and shoeing the horses.

The climax was a hand led ride for each child astride a horse around the walking ring. For many it was their first such experience. Even some of the adult chaperones were given a ride.

A VERSATILE VARIETY of subjects offered in summer school, attracts more and more Placentia Unified School District students each year. At Tuffree Junior High School the offerings cover the gamut from creating a doll to aerodynamics.

DOLL FROM A BOTTLE is the project receiving the rapt attention of Dixie Steele, a student of Mrs. Betty Ann Lawson's class [above].

LABORATORY SCIENCE opens the door to investigating and experimenting in several areas of science. Also familiarization with laboratory equipment such as microscopes, bunsen burners and glassware. The safe and proper use of chemicals in experiments is carefully emphasized. Doing a little microscope work in the upper right picture are Vickie Martin, Yolanda Tjoa, Randy Vick [standing], Steve Mock and Tonia Diaz-Eagle. Teacher is Robert Maylum.



THINGS THAT FLY hold a certain fascination and students in Robert Maylum's class have found time to build rockets, gliders and gasoline engine powered planes. On the final day of summer school, these young aviators will have an opportunity to fly their hand made models. In the picture above are Ron Berry, John Carger and Eddie Pettit.

Fairmonters Enjoy Camp

Children at Fairmont Elementary School enjoyed camp and summer school experiences at the same time last week.

Approximately 135 fourth, fifth and sixth graders spent the week at Camp Osceola in the San Bernardino Mountains putting into practice what they spent the last three weeks studying in camping and science classes at school.

Activities at the five-day camp included ecology studies, crafts, nature hikes and recreation, according to Principal Gordon McKay.

Accompanying the children were 30 high scool counselors and a dozen adult counselors.

Fairmont teachers Todd Murphy and Bob Beardsley served as camp director and teacher of the high school leadership training class sponsored by the North Orange County Regional Occupational Program.

Parents of the students were invited to spend the afternoon and eat dinner with their children Wednesday.

Elbow Benders

Of the adult pedestrians killed in accidents, nearly one-fourth had been drinking.

Placentian Has Scholarship

SAN LUIS OBISPO--Eighteen students at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, including one from Placentia, have been named recipients of $500 Herbert E. Collins Scholarships for 1976-77.

They were chosen on the basis of citizenship, academic achievement, and participation in campus activities by the university's Scholarship Committee. The Placentian is James A. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davis, a senior majoring in physical education.

Collins, a successful citrus farmer and investor in the San Gabriel Valley area of Los Angeles County until his death in 1957, came to California from England in 1890 and, after learning farming methods in the San Joaquin Valley, moved to Covina where he raised vegetable crops on rented land.

He and a brother soon purchased uncultivated land in the El Monte, Pico Rivera, and Placentia areas, where they planted orange trees, and walnut groves in the Placentia and Pico Rivera areas, which they also converted to oranges.

Because of his great interest in agriculture and his feeling of indebtedness to the soil of California, he left the residue of his estate to Cal Poly and asked that a scholarship program for students who "by their industry, scholarship, and ability have proved themselves entitled to special assistance."

THANK YOU--Therese Stewart displays the oversize "thank you" note received at Hidden Hills Stables, Yorba Linda, from the Van Buren School children who recently visited there.

Commission Load Discussed

Talk by city council members of giving the Placentia Beautification Commission new responsibilities, appeared to go no place last week.

Mayor Pro Tem William Rashford said he thought the commission's work load was currently low and wondered if commission members might take on a Placentia Tomorrow assignment, wherein a projection is made as to goals for the city's future.

Councilwoman Virginia Farmer stated that she believed that a committee selected for that specific purpose should be more individualized.

"Perhaps there are other members of the community with special abilities to deal with this who would be willing to take on the task. I don't want to buy the idea of a commission already established to be assigned a task," she added.

Councilman Donald Holt discussed combining the Recreation and Parks Commission with the Beautification Commission. "That would be better than having a commission that is not responsible for doing anything," he explained.

Councilman Jack Gomez stated that he believed the action should come from the commissioners themselves. He suggested that the commissioners could best decide if they have too little to do.

ACS Needs Volunteer Drivers

It's vacation time for many, but for Orange County cancer patients needing rides to treatment centers, it's a critical time because many of the American Cancer Society (ACS) volunteers who usually provide this service are unavailable.

Dina Dierberger, chairperson of the society's volunteer drivers' program in Orange County, urges local residents with a car and a few extra hours to spare to help out this summer by filling in for the regular drivers.

"The society is constantly recruiting volunteers for all phases of its programs, but nowhere are volunteers needed more than in this worthy service which is the only source of transportation for many patients," Dina said.

The only requirements for volunteering are a valid California drivers license and car insurance. Anyone interested in participating in this program should call the ACS at 752-8600.

A FUNTIME FIESTA requires decorations and here Diana Morales, 5, sets to work on some accessories for the big day at the Atwood Community Center this Saturday.

Fiesta Time in Atwood

A neighborhood get-together in Atwood, called Fiesta de la Gente, featuring art and entertainment planned at summer school sessions at the Gomez Community Center is slated for 5 p.m. Saturday, July 31.

More than 125 children from the Atwood community have spent their summer studying, swimming and creating arts and crafts projects in a program sponsored by the Placentia Unified School District, Placentia Recreation and Maintenance Department, Fullerton College Educational Opportunities Program Services, Orange County Manpower Commission and North Orange County Regional Occupational Program.

In addition to singing and dancing by children, mariachi musicians will entertain throughout the evening, according to Jeff Lasher, school administrator for the program.

Funds for the big neighborhood fiesta have been raised during the summer by dinners given at the community center in which parents prepare and donate food.

A mini-fiesta will be held Friday morning, July 30, just for children, who will rehearse for the Saturday event, Lasher said.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., where he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Allergic diseases, such as asthma, hay fever, and hives are considered "family diseases". An allergic sufferer can expect about half his children to have a similar major allergy in childhood. But there's no reason to worry. Quite a few modern means of prevention and treatment are commonly known and effective reliefs are available. However, too many allergy victims are reluctant to accept the results of diagnosis.

Certain medical-scientists now believe that allergies may be contracted from the mental and physical environment of the parents and not really inherited after all.

PAMELA SHATTUCK

Shattuck Appointed

Pamela Shattuck has been appointed Director of the Palo Alto School in Fullerton, according to Thomas L. Larsen, president of the Scottsdale Arizona based Palo Alto Educational System, Inc.

The school offers an educational day care service to all children ages two through the first grade.

Miss Shattuck, a resident of Placentia, has recently worked for the Fullerton College Preschool Lab., the Anaheim Presbyterian Church Preschool, Richmond Elementary School in Fullerton and the Yorba Linda Friends Preschool.

She is certified in the Early Childhood Educational Program including the Administrative program for Directors required by the State of California.

Motorists Can Donate Body Organs

California motorists who renew their driver's licenses at the Department of Motor Vehicles will receive a donor sticker which they may affix to the back of their driver's license to pledge a donation of their kidneys, corneas, or other organs upon death.

DMV Director Herman Sillas said that estimates by the Transplantation Council are that the program could aid more than 8,000 Californians in need of transplants.

The program, dubbed "Gift of Life," was authorized under Senate Bill 542, authored by Senator Dennis Carpenter of Newport Beach.

The donor of an anatomical gift must be 18 years of age or older, the sticker must be signed in the presence of two witnesses, and it must indicate the type of anatomical gift being made available. The measure does not provide for whole body donations, for which separate arrangements must be made with a medical school.

Passage of the law was prompted by a widespread shortage of kidney, cornea, earbone and eardrum, pituitary, heart and skin donors.

The new law is expected to facilitate more immediate recognition of an individual's desires at the time of death, Sillas said.

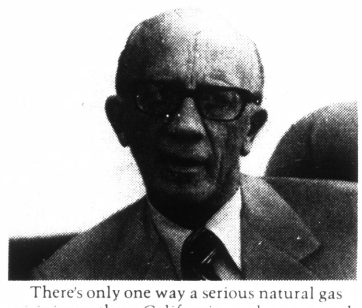
In the energy crisis we all have a choice:

To be part of the problem or part of the solution.

One of a series of reports by Harvey A. Proctor, Chairman, Southern California Gas Company.



There's only one way a serious natural gas crisis in southern California can be prevented. Conservation, of course, will help, but it can't do the whole job. Government, labor, the Gas Company, and consumers must work together to assure new gas supplies. If that happens, we can all keep jobs from being lost, homes from being cold.

Time is running out though. Supplies of natural gas from within southern California are almost gone. Our suppliers in other states — mainly Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico — have cut back deliveries to us. And we've had to cut supplies to large firms that can use other, more expensive forms of fuel.

Government can help by acting.

The biggest problem on the government side has been delays. Delays by local, state and federal agencies. Every big project we have launched to get more gas has been delayed for years — projects in north and south Alaska, in Indonesia, and also in New Mexico, where we want to make gas from coal. Faster decisions from governmental agencies are needed desperately.

Labor can help by getting involved. 700,000 jobs could be at stake.

Our studies show that up to 700,000 jobs in southern California could be lost if the natural gas shortage is allowed to hit us. Many firms simply cannot use other forms of fuel. If they can't get natural gas, they must close down. And that means people who work for those firms will be out on the street. To keep this from happening, labor must voice its concern.

The Gas Company must keep looking for more gas.

There is lots of natural gas available in southern and northern Alaska. Gas from both areas of that state will help when the projects are approved by local and federal government agencies, pipelines are laid, and ships and plants are built. We have signed contracts with the Indonesian government for large amounts of natural gas, but more local, state and federal government approvals in this country are needed, fast. We know how to make gas from coal in New Mexico, but, again, more government approvals are needed.

In addition, the Gas Company is seeking new sources of gas in other areas of the world, such as off the northern coast of Australia and in Malaysia. The best hope for southern California, however, is fast, final approval of our projects in Alaska, Indonesia, and New Mexico.

Consumers must speak out.

There are 12,000,000 people who use natural gas in southern California. If we're prevented from getting more natural gas, many will lose their jobs, many will suffer from cold homes. And there is no other practical form of energy they can use economically and efficiently as a substitute in the next few years. We at the Gas Company are working hard to develop solar energy, but for many years it will take new supplies of gas to solve southern California's energy problems. As a consumer, you have the right to speak out and let people know that you want this crisis prevented, that you want fast action.

The gas is available. Let's go get it.

If we all work together, we can keep the worst effects of a shortage from occurring. The energy crisis need not happen. To learn more about the gas situation, send for our brochure on natural gas supplies. Write to Southern California Gas Company, Box 54093, Los Angeles, CA 90054.

KATIE'S COLUMN or DOWN ON THE FARM by Kay Starr

I don't care how much money you offer me, it isn't going to make me be a commuter into Los Angeles. If it weren't for a favor I owed another tree grower, I wouldn't have done it, but this past week I've had the opportunity of seeing how many of our Orange Countians survive the freeway crawl each morning and each evening. No thank you. It's enough to age a person ten years in 10 minutes.

Believe me, there are better ways of going bananas besides on the Santa Ana Freeway. One nice thing about the drive in the morning, I got to listen to my favorites-Lohman and Barkley and their friend in the air, "Wonder Buns".

It's always so cheery to hear about the tie-ups while you're right in the middle of it. The exploits of "W" in New York City with the Democratic Convention offset the freeway trauma somewhat.

My "Big One" will be a quarter-century old this month. I guess it's time that I change my age, 29 is a little ridiculous. His sister, maybe? Anyway, I thought it would be great to really treat the family to something special, so I suggested we go somewhere for dinner on his birthday, like "Bessie Walls".

Well, if I didn't know my children better (they never talk to each other, yell, maybe) I would have sworn that they had conferred to come up in unison with, "No, we want to go to 'World's Best'."

No offense to our favorite hamburger haven, but the occasion did seem to call for more than a pastrami sandwich and french fries.

As it gets closer and closer to departure day for points east, the list of things to take care of grows longer. One thing is taken care of, what to do with "Snoopy". A friend from apartment days who is living in Costa Mesa has agreed to tend the "three-legged wonder dog."

Of course, I almost blew it when I said I would bring along his pet rock. Why did she look at me like that? Our other pet rocks will be happy sitting on the windowsill now that the cats know they are there. It does mean picking up the rocks frequently, though.

Did you see that in the apportioning of electricity, in case of emergency, that agriculture will receive second highest priority? Number one spot goes to fire, police, prisons, national defense and hospitals.

National Farm Safety Week is July 25th to the 31st. Emphasis is on education, to cover the 52 weeks.

Deidre Wilkinson Weds John Walcek

Deidre Lynn Wilkinson and John Michael Walcek were married Saturday, July 3 in Crescent Bay Point Park, Laguna Beach, California. The park is an undeveloped parcel of land atop a cliff overlooking Seal Rock where seals, pelicans and Seagulls abound.

The bride wore a gown with train of bridal satin covered with seeded pearls and Swiss lace with a matching full length veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red rose buds arranged on her white Bible.

Deidre's mother, Lee Ann, flew out from Joplin, Missouri for the event. Her father, Keith, drove from Enid, Oklahoma to give his daughter away in marriage.

The groom's parents, Emil and Kathleen, along with brothers Joe and Ed and sisters Mary and Ann were present. Charles Mylander, assistant pastor at the Yorba Linda Friends Church officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. John Michael Walcek

Jo Anne Anneblo was matron of honor. She wore a royal blue gown and carried a dozen long stemmed red roses. Her four year old son Jimmy was ring bearer and carried the rings in a white seashell with red ribbons. Don Stevens of Anaheim was best man. Paul Hafner coordinated the songs and Rick Vallens captured the day in pictures.

Special guests were the Voos from Viet Nam and Russian spectator Elene Simiovskage from Moscow.

A reception for fifty persons was held immediately following the ceremony.

Don't Turn Your Hose Into A Water Broom

There's a water saving tip from some of our customers we want to share with you. It's about the habit of some people of using the force of water from a garden hose to sweep away leaves and grass cuttings as shown above.

Using a garden hose this way may seem easier, but as a substitute for a broom or rake it is just plain wasteful of water and scarce energy. Cost's you more too!

Bringing you these water conserving tips also saves water in the dry weather year we're experiencing in California. Also helps you save money and in fighting the higher costs of living. Inflation is a mutual foe your water company constantly seeks ways to overcome so as to help you avoid, whenever possible, inflation's impact on the cost of water service.

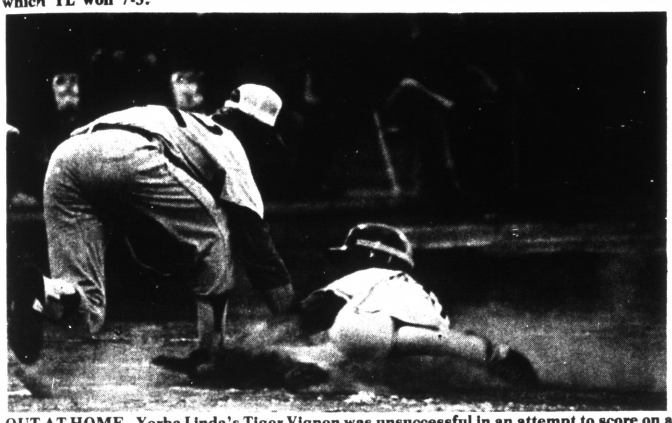
DIVING TAG - David Steigner of the Placentia Senior Major All Stars dove right into the slide of Yorba Linda's Mike Crowley to make the put out in Little League District 56 game which YL won 7-3.

SAFE START--Wendy Margolias starts her dive as team mate Vickie Ignacek reaches the wall in STOP White's 5-6 year old relay. The youngsters will be swimming in Orange County Swim Conference division finals Sunday at Orange Coast College. The Red team will swim in the first division finals Saturday at Villa Park High. Those who qualify will go to the Orange County championships at Belmont Plaza August 4.



OUT AT HOME - Yorba Linda's Tiger Vignon was unsuccessful in an attempt to score on a passed ball. Pitcher Rico Ravelli covered the plate to make the tag on throw from catcher. Yorba Linda beat Placentia in District 56 Senior Major Little League championship game, 7-3.

Yorba Linda Sr. Majors Advance

Yorba Linda Senior Major All Stars capitalized on a combination of good fortune and superior fielding in defeating Placentia 7 - 3 to clinch the district championship Saturday. Yorba Linda now moves into the Sectional tournament.

Placentia lost two runs when the plate umpire ruled Dale Wilson's grounder down the third base line a foul, sending the runners who had crossed home plate back to their bases and Wilson back to bat. (He flied out on the next pitch to end the inning and Placentia's only real rally.)

The call was protested as the ball had been just inside the baseline until hitting the bag, and caroming foul. The plate umpire did not see the ball hit the bag (there was a runner going for home and strange hops seemed the rule rather than the exception on that horse tracked field) and the third base umpire, who had been scrambling to stay clear of ball and players, declined to comment on it.

The play had more significance than the two runs (only half of the score difference) as it seemed to blow the morale of one Placentia coach and several of the players. The team had already suffered from a couple of balls taking bad hops.

Yorba Linda's crew showed a great deal of poise under pressure throughout the game, and apparently throughout the entire series.

They were defeated by Placentia in the first game of the double-elimination tournament, and were under pressure from there on. They came through with flying colors.

Placentia was undefeated until the rematch with Yorba Linda Friday evening so the pressure didn't hit until Saturday for them. Judging from the score and the errors, they weren't prepared to deal with it.

YL East Wins Two

Yorba Linda East Major All Stars played Placentia's West All Star team on July 19 at La Habra Field in a District 56 Tournament game.

Steve Humphrey, pitching for YL, gave up four hits while his mound opponent, Dave Searcy, allowed five hits. Barry Saunders went two for three, one of his hits being a home run smash over the left field fence for Yorba Linda. The final score was 6-1 for Yorba Linda.

On July 24 the YL All Stars faced Pioneer's All Stars in a game that went eight innings. Saunders hurled for YL and had a total of 15 strikeouts.

Good defense by both teams highlighted the game which YL won 1-0. The winners had eight hits and the losers three. Mike Franco and Richard Morga pitched for Pioneer.

Yorba Linda will play East La Habra today (Wednesday) at 5:30 p.m. at the La Habra field.

Flexible Time at Valencia

Nineteen students are taking advantage of GOLD, Gifted on Learning Discoveries, at Valencia High School.

GOLD allows each student to design an individual course of study in a flexible time schedule. Jock Fischer, Valencia teacher MGM coordinator, helps the student plan his program. He then contacts other teachers who work with the student individually.

Until last year, only gifted freshmen and sophomores had the chance for advanced learning. This year, juniors were given the opportunity.

SPORTS

Recreation Softball

Yorba Linda Recreation Department's Spring Softball program concluded recently, producing five first place teams and providing the ingredients for two exciting All-Star games.

The program was held at two schools, Fairmont School and Yorba Linda Junior High School. Each school had four girls' teams, which allowed them to have a league at each school. Boys were combined to form four teams, two at each school.

At Fairmont School Tom and Cathy Puzach headed a team, as did Tim Mills, and when the season ended it found the two teams tied for first place. It was the same story in the Yorba Linda Jr. High girls' program as the team led by Bob Minor finished in first place as did the team coached by Tim Lawson.

Of the boys' teams, the victors were the Brewers, coached by Keith Barnes and Tim Lawson. The team held the first place position throughout the program, losing only their final game of the season.

Standouts from each program were selected to represent their schools in an All-Star game. The Yorba Linda Jr. High Girl All-Stars won-out over Fairmont's girls with a one run lead, winning 15 - 14.

In the boys' All-Star game the East (Fairmont School) quickly took a 5 to 1 lead, but found themselves behind 14 to 6 at the end of the fourth inning. The East rallied in the fifth inning, however, netting 13 runs and once again gaining the lead. The West (Y.L.J.H.) picked up only 2 more runs, the East 1 more, producing the final score East - 20, West - 16.

THESE ARE THE STARS--Named to this year's four All-Star Recreation Softball teams were: C. Miller, K. Beltz, J. Loomis, D. Mills, S.Wnek, S. Puzach, C. Davis, T. Cunningham, M. Oberjunge, J. Angel Farm Teams Win

Although the present California Angels have had a miserable first half of the season, the club's five minor league affiliates are all playing .500 ball or better.

This includes the Quad City team in the Midwest League managed by Bobby Knoop of Yorba Linda. Through July 7 Quad City was in first place with a 13-6 record, two and one half games ahead.

In addition, the Salt Lake City team was the Eastern Division leader by three games in the Pacific Coast League. Gary Wheelock, who grew up in Yorba Linda and whose parents still reside here, is one of Salt Lake's City's top hurlers.

The UC Irvine graduate has an 8-5 record, six complete games and a 3.62 earned run average (ERA).

Prizes Won at Booster Club Party

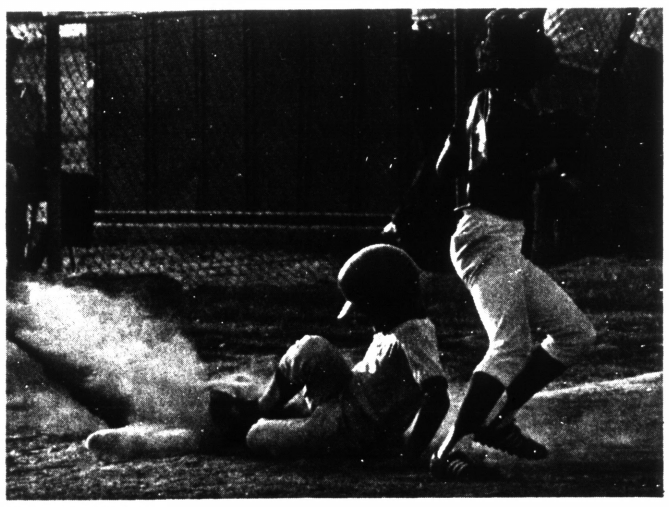
Special guest was the new El Dorado wrestling coach, Frank Gonzales.

Tickets for the drawing had been sold to raise money for the clubs projects. First place winner, a Whirlpool refrigerator went to Mary Ann Russell of Placentia.



WILD THROW - Ronny Berger of the Rangers hit the dirt on a slide into third and when the throw got past the Athletic's third baseman, Allan Quintana, Ronny jumped up and dashed home for one of the Ranger's runs in their 14-9 victory for the American League West championship in the Yorba Linda Little League.

Mental Health
Consultation Available

Geblers to Tell Story

Goat's head soup, accusations of serving as CIA agents and trucks trying to run them down are all part of Don and Cathi Gebler's story. The young Placentia couple just returned from a teaching year in Jamaica at Highgate Continuation School.

They will tell their story and show slides Sunday evening, August 1, at Rose Drive Friends Church.

The Geblers found Jamaica lush and beautiful. Even the rain did not bother them much. The blue skies and smog-free air seemed delightful.

The smiles on their faces show how good it feels to return home. The newlyweds left last October for their teaching assignments on the island. They returned July 7 from their short-term missionary service.

When asked about the goat's head soup, Cathi replied, "It tasted good, but I didn't know what it was until later." Don likes to tell about the trucks who tried to run them down just because they were white.

The political tensions in Jamaica lead the people to suspect all whites as "capitalists" and undercover agents for the CIA.

Don taught English and Bible Knowledge in Highgate Continuation School in St. Mary County. Cathi taught Business Education courses like typing, shorthand, Business English, and Commerce. Cathi also served as librarian.

The Geblers found life in Jamaica more casual than here. No one seems to mind if people come late for appointments or meetings. The pace of life seems far more relaxed than Southern California.

Don accepted the task of preaching once a month in the local Highgate Friends Church. The people like him a lot, and appreciated his thoughtful presentations. Cathi served as a substitute Sunday School teacher as well as Brownie troop leader for nearby Glenleigh School.

One of the most meaningful times of the week for the young couple was the Friday night Bible Study for teachers from various schools in the areas. Black and whites together shared the instruction and inspiration of God's Word. The spiritual sustenance meant much in a land where they were part of the despised minority.

Both Don and Cathi will narrate slides and tell their stories Sunday at 6 p.m. They plan to give time for questions and answers.

The public is invited to the event at Rose Drive Friends Church.

SOCIETY

VACATION CRUISE was taken recently by Ron and Diane Hobbs of Yorba Linda. On the week long cruise they visited Port-au-Prince, Port Antonio, Montego Bay and Nassau on board the M/S Starward of Norwegian Caribbean Lines.

Voight Chapter President

Marilyn Voight of Yorba Linda has been elected president of the Fullerton College Student Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers. The FCC Chapter and another at Cal State Long Beach are the only two chapters in Orange County.

Mrs. Voight is taking the two year course in interior design at Fullerton. This course is transferable to a four year college.

The local woman said that Yorba Linda was a project for a nine week study by the Environmental Design class. The students probed the city, looking at population growth, available housing, average cost of housing, the city's history and public buildings and facilities.

The chapter will hold a board meeting in August to make plans for the coming year. Monthly meetings will be held at the college and several field trips are in the offing.

Speakers who address the chapter at meetings include such noted designers as Ed Machado of Buena Park who is president of the national ASID. There will be a September membership drive.

Other officers who will assist Mrs. Voight are Lee Ann Tribeli, vice president; Cindy Staub, corresponding secretary; Coleen Carney, recording secretary and Eileen McKenna, treasurer. For information call Mrs. Voight at 996-0220.

Lupus Chapter

Residents of Yorba Linda and Placentia who are affiliated with the Lupus Chapter of Orange County, an auxiliary of the City of Hope, will be among those feted at the third annual Donor Dinner on July 31 at the California Restaurant in La Habra.

Rosalie Bennett of Placentia and Mitzi Malafronte of Yorba Linda are committee chairmen. Placentia's Bob Sheffer and Yorba Linda's John Schmidt are trustees.

The Chapter's Buena Park Thrift Store is remaining open during the summer. Monthly meetings will resume in September.

RAYDRA INTERIORS
"Peggy's Pointers"

Interiordesigners have a language of their own, just as members of most professions do. We frequently forget that our clients may not understand all of our terminology, and are liable to misinterpret what we say.

When we are working with you to design a single room, or an entire house, we may throw out some words which you may not fully understand, and you may feel rather embarrassed to say that you do not understand them. Never be ashamed to tell your designer that you do not know what he/she is talking about. After all, WE had to learn everything too!

When we work with a client, we try to communicate both visually as well as verbally, by showing you drawings, floor plans, pictures, fabric samples, and all kinds of media to help us communicate to you a plan for your home. However, nothing takes the place of YOUR questions.

One-Call Center for Contractors

A notification center with a single telephone number to receive calls from excavation contractors who plan work near underground facilities in Orange County is being established by three utilities.

Sponsors of the center are the Southern California Gas Co., Pacific Telephone Co. and General Telephone Co.

The center, the first of its kind in Southern California, is expected to begin operation about Sept. 1 in Garden Grove. Its toll-free number will be 1-800-422-4133.

A contractor planning street excavation work in Orange County will be able to call that number and report its location.

The center will then notify its participating member organizations of the contractor's plan. Each participant who may have underground facilities in the area would then advise the contractor of their location or mark them on the street.

There are more than 50 one-call notification systems in use around the country, according to Don Shively, gas company Orange County Division manager.

Accidents in which excavators damage underground facilities have decreased 30 to 60 percent in those areas with one-call centers, Shively added.

"As a result, the chances that service to the public will be interrupted by such damage have also gone down," he said.

During the past year the three utilities have worked closely with other private utilities and public agencies in developing plans for the center.

These include operators of water mains, electric lines, petroleum pipelines and traffic signals. Several of these operators are expected to join in the system.

At present, contractors proposing work may have to call four or five different agencies. Sometimes the contractors are unsure who to call, Shively said.

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

Industrial Building Approved

The Placentia Planning Commission Tuesday night gave approval to site development for a 32,065 square foot industrial building to be located on the west side of Fee Ana Street, south of Orangethorpe Avenue.

The building will house the office, manufacturing and warehouse facilities of Plasticolor Molded Products, Inc.

The approval is expected to be forwarded to city council by applicant Robert Morse, Tustin, to gain relief from storm drainage fees which he stated he considered to be excessive. The planning commission has no judrisdiction over fee structure.

The applicant estimated that the storm drain construction would cost in the neighborhood of $11,000 or the storm drain acreage fee around $3,600 with no chance of getting the money back.
